REDWOOD CITY, CALIFORNIA SATURDAY, DECEMBER 13, 1919

ESTABLISHED 1859

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE BUSILY ENGAGED ON THE PROPOSED MUNICIPAL WHARF PROJECT

The generous offer of the Frank Tanning Company made to the people of Redwood City whereby the Peninsula Dock and Warehouse property for a new peninsula dock has been tentatively accepted by the town trustees.

At a recent meeting of the trustees the matter was discussed at length and it was referred to Attorney Mansfield to prepare the necessary papers. The company only asks for this concession, the building of a spur track from Chestnut street to the Tanning company's property. A committee of the Chamber of Commerce interviewed a few of the property owners in the locality of Chestnut street during the week and found a ready response. All were willing to give the necessary rights-of-way. Mrs. Pesca, owner of the Sweeney properties and she expressed a willingness to grant any concession needed.

The proposed spur track will run from Chestnut to Spring street and in doing so a small parcel of land owned by Mrs. Sweeney will be required. From Spring street the spur will connect with Walnut and Holder streets to the property of the tanning company.

During the week the Chamber of Commerce committee has been preparing data for Congressman Hersman to aid him in securing the necessary funds to dredge the creek to the proposed municipal dock.

It will be remembered that some two years ago H. C. Tuchen, then trustee, was sent to Washington to assist in securing an appropriation from Congress to dredge the creek.

The committee on appropriations at that time failed to make it, stating that there was not sufficient freight tonnage to warrant the appropriation. It further stated that Redwood City had no municipal dock. These objections have been partly overcome since so that everything seems smooth for the required appropriation.

Mr. Tuchen has, perhaps, done more than any other man in Redwood City in the cause. His arguments in Washington before the authorities left a deep impression. He has been indefatigable in his labors on this behalf and deserves the commendation of the people of Redwood City for what he has accomplished. During the week he prepared an elaborate report of his work done two years ago, and this data has been forwarded to Congressman Hersman. The following is the report:

Redwood City, December 6, 1919—Mr. M. J. Knox, President Redwood City Chamber of Commerce, Redwood City: My Dear Mr. Knox: In compliance with your request for such information as I may possess relative to the dredging of Redwood harbor, which matter I had the honor and pleasure to present to the Board of Engineers at Washington, D. C., in September, 1917. The following may be of interest to you and of value in again pressing Redwood's claim for harbor improvement.

In 1915 the committee of Congress on Rivers and Harbors was making a tour of inspection and was induced to pay Redwood a visit. They seemed impressed with the importance of water facilities up to Bradford street, and while they would make no promise, yet they freely admitted that we ought to have support. Col. Reese at that time in charge of the local office at San Francisco recommended in a communication to the Board of Engineers at Washington that dredging be done up to Bradford street. In August, 1917, the Board of Engineers notified the Redwood City Chamber of Commerce that they had decided to recommend to Congress that no dredging be done. The Chamber of Commerce asked for a hearing which was granted, and I was sent on.

Upon my arrival in Washington, I learned for the first time that that portion of our harbor lying between what is generally known as "deep water wharf" and Broadway was "a closed project." Naturally, I wanted to know why and found, in Volume 5, Page 2967, records of the Board of Engineers, a report dated November 20, 1890, made by Lieutenant Colonel W. H. H. Benyard dealing with the straightening of the stream and cutting through what is known as the "Tanner Bend." The report was lengthy; in brief it stated that the traffic would not warrant the expenditures necessary, concluding the paragraph:

"Regarding the commerce to be benefited at Redwood City, it may be stated that there is a large Tannery, but outside of this establishment and a few minor dealers, there is but one firm." (Hanson & Co.)

The report ended by advising that the portion of the stream mentioned above be made "a closed project." This report was approved, the project closed.

Good and sufficient reasons having been given for the closing of the project, good and sufficient reasons must be given for re-opening same. This I endeavored to do by showing that in the early history of the southern portion of San Mateo county the field and forest had furnished freight. As the forest was cut over and the field subdivided into home sites, there necessarily came a period when there was little freight. Unfortunately for Redwood City, the report of Lieutenant Colonel W. H. H. Benyard was made during this period. It was admitted that the report was correct and the findings of the Board at that time in keeping with the report, and therefore justified.

But since 1890 Redwood City and vicinity had grown to be a large residential section and instead of being exporters of field and forest products, we were now importers; building material for homes, streets and roads were brought in; manufacturing had increased; the need of the water-way was again felt. This was shown by the erection of the Peninsula Dock and Warehouse company's plant. The eventual failure of this enterprise proved the need of deeper water. Photos of the stream at low tide were shown and these gave silent testimony of the reason for abandoning the warehouse enterprise, etc. I am led to believe from subsequent events that the Board of Engineers were agreeable to reopening the closed project and do the dredging asked for.

On or about December 1, 1917, the chairman of the committee of Congress on Rivers and Harbors wrote a letter to the secretary of war outlining the position of that committee on new projects which position was against any improvements where there was no municipal wharf and spur track facilities. The secretary of war in replying to this letter approved the position taken. The final report made by the Board of Engineers after the hearing, included a copy of these two letters and concluded by saying:

"Under these circumstances it would seem best not to undertake the improvements asked for at this time." The River and Harbor Act approved March 2, 1919, affirms the policy outlined in the letters above referred to and is fully outlined in a letter dated April 24, 1919, addressed to "The Mayor, Redwood City" and signed by Col. W. H. H. Benyard in charge of the local office at San Francisco.

From this it will be seen that Redwood City must have a municipal wharf and spur track in order to successfully plead for water facilities. I understand a proposition has been made by the S. H. Frank Tanning company which, if found satisfactory and accepted, will mean compliance with the policy of Congress and in that way, as far as I can see, the last obstacle in the way of getting deeper water at the foot of Main street, will have been removed, and the foundation for Redwood City's great future as a manufacturing center will have been laid.

I might add that the Board of Engineers at Washington were much interested in removing the flood gates from Broadway to Holder street for the purpose of storing tide water to be released at low tide for the purpose of washing out the channel. I understand the way is clear now for this undertaking. Photographs showing the Peninsula Dock and Warehouse company's plant, also showing the stream, or rather the bed of the stream at low tide, were left with the Secretary of the Board at Washington. Mr. Ponda, our local photographer, has the plates and could furnish prints should you deem it best to use them.

I hope this will furnish the information desired, and that you will be successful in your endeavor to restore what Redwood lost through no fault of her people; namely, deep water to Bradford street.

Yours truly,
H. C. TUCHSEN.

Among the amendments made to the Motor Vehicle act at the last session of the Legislature there was included a change in the time for renewing licenses.

Formerly the motor vehicle license fee was due and payable on January 1, but under the new law the fee does not become due until February 1st. It was found advisable to set the license period ahead one month to avoid the congested conditions of the mails around the Christmas holiday season which in the past has resulted in delay.

Therefore, motorists will take note that their automobile license for the year 1920 are due February 1st and become delinquent after March 1.

THE WEEK'S EVENTS IN LOCAL CIRCLES

A special sale of aluminum ware for Christmas will take place at Hull Brothers commencing on Monday, December 8, and continuing for one week only. This is an opportunity to secure your Christmas gifts at a very low price. Don't forget the sale. Get in early and thus avoid the rush.

The members of the M. E. church are planning a big food sale on Saturday, December 13, in the Sequoia building on Main street.

Hull Bros. for Hardware, Xmas Gifts, Carving Sets, Cutlery, Universal Vacuum Bottles, Safety Razors, Electrical Flash Lights.

Rev. Father Kennedy has been appointed administrator of Mount Carmel Catholic church. He arrived here last week and is busily engaged in his work. Father Kennedy was the chaplain at Camp Fremont during the war. He is interested in the work of the Boy Scouts and will give them the benefit of his experience in similar organizations in San Francisco.

Captain Harry Robertson, for the past two years connected with the aviation branch of the U. S. army, has been discharged from the service and is again in civilian clothes. He has accepted his former position as a salesman for his father, in his San Francisco book store.

A. L. Lasseman, secretary of Healds Business College of San Francisco has this to say about Miss Jane Sheehan, daughter of M. Sheehan: "The principal of her department has just reported that she is doing very fine work, stands high in the esteem of every teacher under whom she has worked, and is all-in-all making excellent progress."

Attorney J. J. Bullock spent several days during the fore part of the week at Colusa trying an important case in the superior court for that county.

Mr. Mark E. Ryan was re-elected chief of the local fire department and Alfonso G. Ligouri was re-elected secretary by the delegates from the several companies this week. Mr. Ryan has made a most excellent chief and is usually the first one at every fire that occurs in the community. The delegates from the different companies are to be congratulated upon their selection as Mr. Ryan is certainly the right man in the right place.

Antone Venturi, charged with a statutory crime committed at Half-moon Bay on October 15, pleaded not guilty to the information in the superior court Thursday afternoon. The date of the trial has been set for December 17. J. E. McCurdy of San Mateo will defend Ventura.

The store of Horace B. Gardner was broken into by thieves Sunday night last and $1500 worth of silk and clothing were removed. Cotton goods were left on the shelves. The authorities believe the theft is the work of a gang of boys who came down from the city in an automobile and carted off the goods. The San Carlos creamery was broken into, and after rifling the two cash registers of thirty cents, the thieves demolished the register and the proprietor's lunch left over was not overlooked.

BUSINESS MEN ON BROADWAY ASK CITY BOARD TO RUSH THE BRIDGE WORK TO COMPLETION

At the meeting of the city board of trustees last Monday evening a petition was presented to the board signed by all the business men on Broadway, asking that the board take some action in regard to the completion of the Broadway bridge.

Business is suffering on this street and the holiday season coming on makes it bad for those who have invested in holiday goods. Washington street south of Broadway is closed to traffic also, which is likely to remain closed for some months. With these two streets closed it makes it difficult for strangers to get into the city.

The matter was referred to City Engineer Dimmitt with a request for him to call upon the contractor and try to have the Broadway bridge open for traffic by today.

The board was anxious to have the work completed at the earliest possible date.

At this meeting the matter of approving the action of the firemen in the election of officers for the ensuing year came up. The delegates from the fire department reported that at a recent meeting of the department they had elected the same officers as had been previously holding the various positions. After hearing a verbal report of Chief M. E. Ryan, the board approved the action of the firemen.

Chief Ryan reported that the total loss by fire for the past year would not exceed $5000, which is very creditable to the department, showing efficiency and interest in the department.

Fred Warden, who has the contract for the new fire house, reported that he had spent for material and labor on the structure, to date, $3720 but Architect Miller stated that the estimate was $500 higher than it should be. Acting on the report of Architect Miller $500 was deducted from the contractor's report, leaving it $3220. According to the contract Mr. Warden is to be paid 75 per cent of the estimated work and material monthly, thus the contractor was allowed $2415, as a first payment.

Dreyfus Bros. asked for an extension of 30 days on the outfall sewer contract. The work was to have been completed in 120 working days, which time expires on December 20. Due to difficulty in obtaining material the board granted an extension of 30 days on his contract.

east for a time after which he came to California. He was engaged in the livery business with his cousin, Silas Swanton in Santa Cruz in the early sixties, from there he went to Pescadero where he was in business for several years. He then went to San Francisco where he became a wool buyer and was with a large wool firm until his illness. The funeral was held from the Wood home on Wednesday morning, interment being in Cypress Lawn cemetery. Besides his two daughters two grandsons survive. They are Charles W. McCracken of this city and Harold W. Wood of Berkeley.

Some unknown person sent a Christmas offering of $100 to the local chapter of the Red Cross this week. The gift is to be used entirely for local purposes. Mrs. Archer Kincaid, the president of the chapter, to whom the letters was sent, is perfectly willing to have any other public spirited resident of the community follow the lead of this anonymous giver.

Miss Marie McAuliffe who is teaching school at Mitchell Mill, Calaveras county has written to friends that she is enjoying her work immensely. She experienced her first big snow storm last week and as it was the first time she had ever been in the snow she had the finest kind of a time. School will close for the winter, December 19th.

The people of Redwood City did not realize that there was a snow storm here last Tuesday. But such was the case, however, but its visible physical effects were not noticed by the residents. Tuesday afternoon a teacher at the Redwood City aviation field accompanied by a passenger flew to the clouds reaching an altitude of 3000 feet. After passing the first strata of clouds the teacher ran into a snow storm, the flakes piling up on the machine in large bunches from which a snow man could have been made. The passenger suggested that he throw snow balls but the teacher warned his companion against this. When they encountered the warm clouds of the first strata in descending the snow soon melted. However when a landing was made at the aviation field some evidence of the snow on the wings of the airplane were discernable. This storm may account, in a degree, to the cold snap felt here during the past week.

A Handkerchief Bazaar will be given under the auspices of the M. E. church Friday afternoon and evening, December 19th at corridor of Sequoia Hotel. Please keep this in mind when doing your Christmas shopping.

D. W. Williams, Redwood City banker, has offered a gold medal each year for the best athlete developed at the Sequoia Union High school. S. F. McCrea, the principal, announced today the rules under which competitions for the medal will be held.

CHEAP POLITICS

The Republican Publicity Association, through its president, Hon. Jonathan Bourne, Jr., yesterday gave out the following statement from its Washington headquarters:

"The general public may not realize that the proceedings in the Truman H. Newberry case are, to say the least, unusual. The remarkable part of the whole affair is the fact that the case is brought by the Federal government. The rule heretofore has been for the contestants to fight the matter out and then for the Senate Committee to base its findings in an investigation of its own. But in Senator Newberry's case the Senate investigation will wait until the case is decided in court.

"Either a decided attempt has been made to conceal the fact that the same charge was made against Ford that was made against Newberry, or else that fact has been forgotten. Nevertheless such is the case and while the federal agents are working night and day against Newberry they have paid no attention whatever to the charges against Ford. The charge in both cases was expending more money than the federal statute permits.

"The suggestion which naturally arises is this: a new form of political corruption where the party in power with the massive machinery of government at beck and call turns that power and wealth against an enemy and at the same time ignores all charges against a friend, although the friend is in the same boat. It will be remembered that Henry Ford's candidacy was announced at the request of President Wilson and everything within power was done by the administration to elect the Detroit manufacturer. While Ford had been an advocate of pacifism, and while he talked against the war, and while his son was exempted from service, Turman H. Newberry was serving his country in its hour of need and his two sons were in the thick of the fight.

"The defeat of Ford was undoubtedly a severe blow to Mr. Wilson and a great disappointment to his followers. It meant the control of the Senate. In order apparently to wreak vengeance, a disappointed administration now attempts to use the Federal government to bring about the desired results. The people can demand justice, and justice will be demanded. If one must be tried, let both contestants be tried.

"Let us have the story of the Ford machine and the millions spent for his election. Let us have the story of the influences brought to bear from the White House and every other source of the Federal government. If there is to be a fight on the issue let it be fair and in the open."

ADVERTISING A CITY

Mrs. D. E. Graham of this city recently received a copy of the Salt Lake Tribune, which pays a neat tribute to Redwood City. We agree with the Tribune, it pays to advertise and the more advertising the more results. Following is the article:

"There is nothing new in the suggestion that a city, or a state, advertise its wares. Such advertising has been done time and again and has proved so uniformly successful that it has gone far beyond the experimental stage.

"The best known example is afforded by Los Angeles. It started advertising a score or more years ago. Now when anyone speaks of 'the land of sunshine and flowers' you naturally think of Los Angeles. That is the result of advertising.

"As a matter of fact, Los Angeles is not the sunniest spot in the world, nor even in California. Government tests at Redwood City, on the peninsula twenty miles south of San Francisco, show that Redwood City has more sunshine during a year than the Angel City, but whoever heard of Redwood City? The answer is to be found in the fact that Los Angeles has advertised; Redwood City has not.

"All this is preliminary to the declaration that Salt Lake City should advertise. In the first place, we have something worth while to advertise; secondarily, we have a certain amount of false, vicious propaganda to overcome. The experience of the two Utah delegates at the recent interchurch convention in the East evidences how greatly Utah and its people have been maligned.

"It is not our belief that the falsehoods circulated by uninformed knucklers should be directly answered; to the contrary, we believe they should be ignored and counteracted solely by publication of the truth in regard to Utah and its people. Utah has as much, if not more, to offer a newcomer than any state in the Union. Our job is to tell the world of this and to bring new people into the state.

"Consistently expended, every dollar that goes for advertising should be worth $10 to the state within one year and ten times that much within five years."

THE SUPERVISORS HOLD MEETING

The board of supervisors met in regular session Monday, December 8, 1919, at 10 a. m., there being present Chairman John MacBain, president; T. L. Hickey, W. H. Brown, Jos. M. Francis and Dr. C. V. Thompson.

A communication was received from the South San Francisco Manufacturers' Association, enclosing a resolution adopted by that body, calling upon the board of supervisors not to take action with regard to the enforcement of the ordinance recently passed by the board limiting the weight of loads that might be carried over the different roads of the county, particularly in reference to the provision limiting the load on the Bay Shore road in the First township to eight tons. The resolution asked that the maximum load be increased from eight tons to fifteen tons.

Supervisor Hickey stated to the board that since the communication was written, he had taken the matter up with the representatives of the manufacturers' association and after explaining the situation to them, they agreed not to press their requests for a modification of the ordinance. The communication was thereupon ordered filed.

A communication was received from H. P. and Mrs. Peterson of Oakdale, Cal., asking the board to take the necessary action to provide a street for them to enable them to get to and from their property in the Brophy's tract at Halfmoon Bay. The communication was ordered referred to Supervisor Francis of the Fourth township.

McDonnell & Company, bond brokers of San Francisco, the purchasers of the Visitation Valley school bonds, sold at the last meeting of the supervisors, addressed a communication to the board, in which they stated that acting upon the advice of their attorneys, Goodfellow, Eells, Moore & Orrick, they had decided not to take the bonds and asked that the certified check which accompanied their bid for the bonds be returned to them.

The opinion of Goodfellow, Eells, Moore & Orrick in the above matter, was to the effect that the bonds were invalid on account of their being issued in the sum of $23,000 whereas the amount of the bonds voted for were $24,000. The difference as explained to the board by District Attorney Swart several meetings ago, was due to the fact that shortly after the election a change was made in the assessed valuation of the district, which reduced it to the extent that it was not possible to issue the bonds in the full amount of the $24,000.

The bonding attorneys in their opinion to McDonnell & Co. held that the statutes provides that the supervisors must issue the bonds in the full amount voted for by the people.

The matter was ordered referred to District Attorney Swart.

Ordinance No. 308, amending Ordinance No. 276 which provides for the various election precincts in the county, was adopted, on motion of Brown, seconded by Hickey.

County Auditor J. J. Shields submitted his statement, showing the amount of money that can be drawn against the various funds of the county during the month of December, 1919. The report was ordered filed.

On motion of Brown, seconded by Francis, a claim of the San Francisco Hospital for services rendered in connection with a recent coastside investigation, was ordered returned for proper identification.

A claim of the Rucker, Fuller Desk Company, San Francisco, in the sum of $85 for a desk purchased for the office of County Clerk Elizabeth M. Nash, was ordered rejected, on motion of Brown, seconded by Thompson, Mrs. Nash explaining that the bill had been made out in duplicate.

WILL OF A. A. NEUMAN IS FILED IN SUPERIOR COURT

Mrs. Clara C. Neuman has filed the last will and testament of her husband, A. A. Neuman, who died on December 2, and has applied for letters testamentary thereon. The instrument was executed in San Francisco on September 16, 1915, the subscribing witnesses being Gerald C. Halsey and C. Harold Caulfield. The petitioner does not know the value or character of the estate, except that it is in excess of $10,000. The will leaves the entire estate to the petitioner, wife of the decedent who resides at Woodside. H. H. McPike of San Francisco is the attorney for Mrs. Neuman.

NEW MAUSOLEUM TO BE BUILT IN HOLY CROSS

The Roman Catholic Archdiocese has awarded a contract to the Vermont Marble Company of San Francisco for the marble work on the new Mausoleum soon to be built at Holy Cross Cemetery, Colma for the sum of $87,750. The work is to begin on March 20, 1920, providing the building is ready for this branch of the construction. The building will contain over 1000 crypts for the reception of bodies. Many of these have already been taken. The building is to be one of the largest of its kind on the coast. When completed it will cost in the neighborhood of $250,000.

GOULARTE CASE DISMISSED FOR LACK OF EVIDENCE

The charge of burglary against Frank Goularte of Pescadero was dismissed at the preliminary hearing before Justice Ray Griffin, Monday. Goularte was accused of having stolen $16 from Perry Ferris, a Pescadero trapper, last February. There was not sufficient coherent evidence advanced to warrant holding him, according to Judge Griffin.

Ferris, in his testimony, admitted that he was under the influence of liquor at the time he missed the money, and was not absolutely certain as to what amount was missing. He said that he had been told that Goularte was the one who entered his room at the Swanton hotel and took the money from his trousers pocket. He also testified that the affidavit which he signed at the suggestion of Andy Stirling was drawn up in C. H. Widemann's house at Pescadero by Doctor Thompson.

Louis Cardozo, the chief complaining witness, testified that he was with Goularte on the night of the burglary and that Goularte had endeavored to get him to steal the money and because he would not, Goularte got it himself, giving Cardozo $2.50 to "keep his mouth shut." He also admitted that the affidavit which he signed was drawn up at Widemann's house.

Roy Jackson and Klas Anderson claimed they saw Goularte climb in the window of Ferris' room.

Due, however, to discrepancies in the testimony and to a difference in the amount missing, and also to the fact that Ferris did not file the charge until urged to do so by Widemann's gang, the court felt it could not at this time hold Goularte over. District Attorney Swart promised to investigate thoroughly and if there was any question of guilt to prosecute not only Goularte but Cardozo also. Upon motion of District Attorney Swart the case against Andy Stirling, charged with battery by Goularte, was dismissed. Swart said at the time that he wished to clear these witnesses in the civil litigation over the Coburn will, and to prevent their being discredited as witnesses in the Sarah Satira Coburn murder case.

The case against Goularte was to have been tried before Justice of the Peace A. W. Woodhams at Pescadero, but he was present at the time the affidavits against Goularte were signed, and so Goularte requested a change of venue, which was granted, bringing the case before Justice Griffin.

Goularte is said to be an important witness in the Sarah Satira Coburn murder case, and his lawyers charge that this is an attempt to discredit him.

Goularte was represented yesterday by Attorney Hall C. Ross, C. F. Humphrey and J. B. Zimdars, all of whom are associated in the contests of the wills of Loren Coburn and Sarah Satira Coburn.

SAN CARLOS NOTES

Dranzy A. Jones who left recently to take charge of certain mining interests in old Mexico as engineer and who, with his crew, are outfitting at Nogales, Arizona, preparatory to crossing the border, writes in very complimentary praises of the elevated city in the desert sage brush state where the elevation of some of the land is below sea level. "Supplies, meals, etc., are much higher than in San Francisco, a very poor meal for $1.00. This is a very wealthy town and with splendid business opportunities; beautiful stone and brick homes all over the hills to the west; stores filled with costly furniture and goods. It is higher in elevation than Hetch Hetchy, being 7369 feet above sea level; which makes a delightful climate, neither too hot nor too cold, although so far south, being 1121 miles from San Francisco, and one thousand and one hundred miles from Nippon. There is a big army post here with a large modern hospital, and you see soldiers in evidence all around. There is a high barb wire fence through one of the principal streets, as a dividing line between the United States and Mexico; on the one side you see scores of Uncle Sam's soldier boys and on the other, that of old Mexico. Most all business houses have moved to the American side in fear of bandits and high taxes. At the municipal market there were loads and loads of vegetables of all kinds, the finest I have ever seen, they are brought up from Magdal where it is much lower and warmer. This is an absolutely dry town, all the old stock used up, Arizona having been legally and figuratively dry for over three years; not so over the border."

Jack Kelly, who's smiling face appears on the sporting page of the S. F. Bulletin every week day evening, and who is boosting so hard to secure an army of entrants for the Bulletin Classic Race, is some sprinter himself when it comes to long distance, as it takes him but a very short time to cover the 25 miles that lies between San Carlos and San Francisco; when he receives an invitation to the spirit moves him to take a hike. Mr. Kelley and Miss Edna Cunningham were dinner guests at the cozy little country nest of Miss Beatrice Juneau last Tuesday evening.

G. B. Hollenbeck received a car load of material last week to be used in the construction of the eight new homes now in process of building or as contracted for.

At the meeting of the San Carlos Club last Wednesday evening the members of the street committee were instructed to prepare plans and arrange for both a street and side walk and a sanitary district. The President and Secretary of the club were also directed to draft strong letters of protest to District Attorney Stewart, the Railroad Commission and the California Automobile Association against the speeding at the rate of 35 to 45 miles through San Carlos, there is no parlor language to be used, but ethics must be disregarded and these letters must be couched in words that can't possibly be misunderstood, for patience has most certainly ceased to be a virtue after so many narrow escapes and hair-raising experiences of our long suffering citizens of our little city. The close call of our popular promoter, Fred H. Drake and vice-president of our club and his estimable wife has come so near to death a few days ago on the state highway at Redwood as the last straw. This attitude of the speed fiend, both on the auto busses and in private cars, which indicates that they think in the language of old Vanderbilt: "To hell with the public," has got to come to a speedy reform particularly when they are using that part of the state highway running through San Carlos, which was dedicated to the state for the pleasure and use of the public, and of which the speed burner forms a very small part.

WOODSIDE NOTES
The Independence Hall Association has sold the old hall building and site to Henry Koop who will continue the building as an amusement place. The old land mark was erected in 1881 by the enterprising citizens of Woodside who were anxious to have a place where the young men might enjoy themselves. Many of the old stockholders have passed away so the association thought best to dispose of the property. For many years Henry Jenkins has been the secretary of the association. The hall was known far and wide for the enjoyable dances taken place there.

FIRST NATIONAL INSTALLING A BURGLAR ALARM SYSTEM
This week the First National Bank is installing the United States Electrical Burglar Alarm system in the bank building for the benefit of their customers. The bank wishes to keep abreast of the times and is installing this system to guard against any day light raids that may be made by robbers who have been, in evidence lately around the bay, holding up many banks.

With the burglar-proof vault and the new system patrons of the bank may rest assured that their securities are well protected and are safe. Push buttons are to be installed in all parts of the building so that in case of a hold up immediate alarm may be given. A large gong is to be placed on the outside of the structure and one inside. In case of a robbery the alarm will be sounded that will be heard by the entire city. It will take a tidy sum to install the system.
